

Three Long Days!

It will be a long three days, as we wait to see if the South will move to Level Three or return to Level One.

Whilst the news last night was disappointing for all of us, we can assure you that your team at Polson Higgs has plans in place which will enable us to continue to provide you with the same high level of service as always regardless of which Level we find ourselves.

At Level Two our office remains open, if you do wish to come into the office please ensure you make an appointment, otherwise phone and zoom meetings are still available.

We know more now...

Following the experience of Lockdown, we know more now about the effect of the various levels on businesses. if you have any questions or concerns about what a move to Level Two or Level Three may mean for your business please don't hesitate to contact your partner or manager for help.

Hope for the best prepare for the worst...

We all hope that come Friday we will be able to move back to Level One, however, we should all be preparing for the possibility of a return, even briefly, to a Level Four Lockdown.

In our last newsletter we talked about business continuity plans and these are more important than ever. if you don't have one in place or you want assistance with preparing one please don't hesitate to contact your partner or manager for help.

New Webpage - we have added a new page to our website and are gathering different resources for you to use. Check out Polson Higgs Covid-19

If you have a question about anything please don't hesitate to ask on covid19@ph.co.nz.

Stay safe and keep in touch.
